Group Gathering Prohibition Index – Commentary

香港民意研究所數據科學經理戴捷輝解釋：「今天的『限聚指數』是14.1，比『限聚令』人數為高，亦有高達84%市民認為現時限聚令太緊，即只有八分一市民接受現時的限聚程度，反映市民期望政府放寬『限聚令』。自今年三月中起，限聚指數一直維持在10人以上，政府應在平衡疫情風險後，考慮逐步放寬限聚人數。」

Data Science Manager of HKPORI Edward Tai observed, “The reading of ‘Group Gathering Prohibition Index’ stands at 14.1 today, which is much higher than the official limit. As many as 84% of the general public considering the current ban too strict, meaning that the current ban is only acceptable by one-eighth of the people. This reflects people’s wish for the government to relax the ban. Since mid-March this year, the Group Gathering Prohibition Index has been standing at more than 10 people, government should consider gradually relaxing the ban after balancing the COVID risk.”
