香港教育中心商會副主席任偉豪指出：「前天，新加坡政府將『旅遊氣泡』易名為『旅遊走廊』，與現時香港的旅遊相互出入境措施的名稱不一樣。新加坡聲稱是因為『氣泡』容易爆破，所以需改一個更適當的名稱。香港現時除了有『旅遊氣泡』，還有『疫苗氣泡』，港府是否需要考慮一併更改『氣泡』這個名稱呢？更重要的是，新加坡所承認的疫苗在上星期開始，也和香港不一樣。他們再不承認科興疫苗，意味著『旅遊氣泡』的措施將會遇到極大阻力，屆時可能只有復必泰的接種者才可進入新加坡，而且可能還有更多國家宣佈不承認科興疫苗，科興疫苗的接種者可能白打了。」

Vice Chairman of The Hong Kong Chamber of Education Centres Yam Wai Ho observed, “The Singaporean government renamed ‘travel bubble’ to ‘travel corridor’ the day before yesterday. The name is now different from that of Hong Kong’s mutual tourism border crossing arrangements. Singapore says ‘bubble’ is easy to burst, so it needs to find a more appropriate term. Hong Kong now has ‘travel bubble’ and ‘vaccine bubble’. Would the government consider changing the term ‘bubble’? More importantly, the vaccine approved by Singapore is already different from that of Hong Kong starting last week. Sinovac vaccine is no longer recognized, so the ‘travel bubble’ arrangement is now facing big trouble. It is very likely that only BioNTech vaccinators would be allowed to enter Singapore, while more countries are not recognizing Sinovac. Those who had taken Sinovac vaccines might have done it for nothing.”
