香港教育中心商會副主席任偉豪指出：「昨天學校大致開學有序，在防疫上也沒有鬧出甚麼問題，但沒有學校申請恢復全日課。申請恢復全日課的條件是七成接種率，但不少專家已經指出七成接種率需要進一步提高，甚至有說防疫屏障的概念已經爆破。那麼，七成接種率的理據已經不再成立了。我認為教育局可能需要進一步再考慮七成接種率的要求是否合適。」

Vice Chairman of The Hong Kong Chamber of Education Centres Yam Wai Ho observed, “Yesterday the schools started classes in an orderly manner, and there was not much problem in epidemic prevention. However, no school had applied for resumption of full day classes, with the condition that vaccination rate reaches 70%. Many experts have pointed out that the vaccination rate needs to be further increased, some even said the concept of anti-epidemic barrier had already burst. Therefore, the rationale for achieving 70% vaccination rate before resuming full day classes is no longer valid. I think the Education Bureau may need to reconsider whether the requirement of 70% vaccination rate is still appropriate.”
